

Where Jewish Life Shines Bright - On October 13, Simchat Torah was a true celebration when our families for a Tot Simchat Torah Dance Party, followed by a pizza dinner, followed with a congregation-wide Simchat Torah Celebration. It was a day to celebrate as it was also the day the Israeli hostages were released.

A Message From Our Co-Presidents

Dear Friends,

After decades of inspiring spiritual leadership, and as we draw closer to his January 1st retirement, Mishkan Or will honor Rabbi Robert Nosanchuk as he transitions to become the Founding Rabbi Emeritus of Congregation Mishkan Or. Join us on Friday, November 14, at our Shabbat Service for Rabbi Nosanchuk's last sermon as Senior Rabbi.

We invite the entire community to join us over the weekend of December 5–6, for Shalom Rav: A Celebration of Rob Nosanchuk and his Distinguished Rabbinic Career.

- Shabbat worship: Friday, December 5, 6 pm, Featuring our Entire Clergy and Community Wishing Shalom to Rabbi Nosanchuk and his family with Sweet Oneg Treats Before and After Worship
- Havdalah ritual of transition and Camp-Style Song Session on Saturday, December 6 in the early evening at Mishkan Or

More details will be coming on the above opportunities to celebrate Rabbi Nosanchuk.

Rabbi Nosanchuk, pictured here with his family, has been a visionary presence in our community, guiding generations through moments of joy, reflection, and renewal. As Founding Senior Rabbi of Congregation Mishkan Or, he helped bring our bold new congregation to life, supporting every stage of the exploration process and leading us with clarity, courage, and heart. His steady presence united two legacy congregations into one community grounded in shared values and a sense of purpose.

Rabbi Nosanchuk's impact has reached far beyond our walls. A past co-chair of the Greater Cleveland Congregations (GCC), he has been a tireless advocate for justice and human rights in every community he has served. Under his guidance, what was in 2010 a nascent merger between Anshe Chesed Fairmount Temple and Chevrei Tikvah LGBTQ+ Chavurah, became one community uniquely committed to affirmation and inclusion. As a gifted provider of pastoral care, he has helped thousands of people at Mishkan Or and at earlier at Fairmount Temple and congregations served in Reston, Virginia, and Baltimore, Maryland.

A steadfast supporter of Israel, he has consistently spoken up for Israelis affected by terror and further shown commitment by leading multiple trips of congregants to see Israel and trips for Muslim and Christian leaders to join Rabbis in Israel and the Palestinian Territories.

Despite what you think or may have heard, Judaism is actually a religion of love. This is the transformative claim at the core of Rabbi Shai Held's groundbreaking book, Judaism is About Love: Reclaiming the Heart of Jewish Life. Hadar's Project Zug invites you to engage deeply with this vision through a dynamic 10-session course that delves into the foundational texts that inspire Rabbi Held's theology.

In this course, you'll discover and reclaim what Rabbi Held calls the "heart" of Judaism. Whether you've already read the book and want to engage directly with the primary sources or are eager to follow the textual path that led to Rabbi Held's insights, this course is a unique opportunity to examine how and why Judaism is, at its core, about love—and to consider how this framework might transform your Jewish life and practice. RSVP to Nicole Donerson at Ndonerson@mishkanor.org.

It is clear: Rabbi Nosanchuk strives to be a "rabbi's rabbi," always present for clergy teammates and colleagues with sound advice and counsel. Through his visionary leadership, he has built unity and continuity into the commitments of Congregation Mishkan Or—building upon the historic values of our legacy congregations, such as the pursuit of social justice, inclusion, and relating to all human beings as having infinite worth.

He has long referred to mentoring young people as the "soul" of his rabbinate and has modeled such work with students and young people who interact with our synagogue, with Jewish camps and youth activities.

Even when he faced a Stage IV metastatic cancer diagnosis in 2019, he showed extraordinary courage and grace to the community, becoming a symbol of faith and resilience and to all who know him, and raising awareness on cancer prevention and funds for research to improve treatment and quality of life for people with cancer.

His achieving remission in May, 2024, prompted Rabbi Nosanchuk's decision to retire from serving as a full-time rabbi, to savor what he calls his "bonus time" and pursue health and strength. He inspires us to live our values boldly and sustain the community he helped us create.

Finally, we anticipate gathering again on April 26, 2026, for a celebratory evening to honor Rabbi Nosanchuk's career and his extraordinary contributions to both Mishkan Or and the Cleveland Jewish community.

With gratitude,

Co-Presidents: Julie Adler Raskind and Bruce Goodman

Addressing the Growth of Hate In Our Communities: How to Respond

Sunday, January 25, 2026, 5:00-6:30 pm
at Congregation Mishkan Or

In these difficult times, many of us are looking for ways to respond to increased incidents of hate and we feel called to protect communities that are being targeted. We invite you to join us for a program to learn about the problem and how you can help!

In this 90-minute program, you will learn about the scope of the problem, what IGAH is doing to address hate, and, most importantly, how you can become involved in the range of opportunities that IGAH is involved in. These include relationship-building across faiths, research and education on this topic, and action.

Sponsored by the Women of Mishkan Or, Social Justice Committee, and the Interfaith Group Against Hate (IGAH).

Registration is requested to David Biegel at david.biegel@case.edu.

Mishkan Or will use these funds to treat and repair a Hebrew-Yiddish Haggadah published in Venice in 1663, a volume from the Harold Greenbaum Rare Book Collection, a legacy of Anshe Chesed Fairmount Temple.

"We're thrilled to receive this support, which provides us the opportunity to conserve this 362-year-old Haggadah so that it will survive to educate and delight students, scholars, and us all for generations to come," shared Librarian and Archivist Jane Rothstein. "It's one of the treasures Mishkan Or inherited from our legacy congregations, both of which sought to preserve Jewish cultural heritage by building collections of books and objects unique in Northeast Ohio."

Be a Light of Congregation Mishkan Or

If you haven't received your invitation to being part of our Stronger Together Annual Appeal, you will be receiving it soon! The Lights of Mishkan Or Giving Circle is at the heart of our Stronger Together Annual Appeal. It honors those whose generosity sustains our present and helps secure our future. Being part of Lights of Mishkan Or means investing in a stronger Jewish future—one rooted in compassion, learning, belonging, and shared responsibility. Your gift directly supports Mishkan Or's annual operating needs, from children's education and adult learning to sacred music, meaningful worship, pastoral care, and safety for our entire community.

Whether you're renewing your support, increasing your gift, or joining the circle for the first time, your generosity lights the way forward. Each giving level reflects a unique kind of impact, but all are united in strengthening what we build together.

We are strengthening a spiritual home grounded in shared values—one that brings light to this moment and ensures it continues to shine for generations to come.

To support the Stronger Together Annual Appeal, visit mishkanor.org/give. To learn more or any questions, reach out to Allison Shippy, Membership Director, at Ashippy@mishkanor.org or 216-831-3233.

Kulam Limmud Teens Build a Wall of Love

Our Limmud teens put their learning into action by assembling and distributing bags of supplies for members of our community in need as part of our Wall of Love initiative. Despite the horrendous rainstorms, they showed incredible dedication by putting these bags on walls near areas with families in need.

This meaningful project capped off a two-month exploration on poverty and helping those in need, reminding our teens that compassion, commitment, and community go hand in hand.
